

HEALING PERIODONTAL DISEASE WITH THE PERIO PROTECT METHOD

A new non-invasive treatment is now available for periodontal disease. We are excited to be able to offer the Perio Protect Method to our patients. Gum disease has been implicated in more than just tooth loss and is also associated with type II diabetes, cardiovascular disease, respiratory disease, pancreatic cancer, and Alzheimer's disease. For this reason it is vital that we keep our gums healthy and reduce the bacteria in our mouths.

The Perio Protect Method uses an FDA cleared medical device called a Perio Tray that is custom made for your mouth. The Perio Tray has a special seal that holds medications in the periodontal pocket for enough time to kill the bacteria that cause disease. The tray uses hydraulic pressure to force the medications to the bottom of the pocket and works to essentially wipe out the bacteria around the teeth on a daily basis.

Pathogenic bacteria that reside in the periodontal pocket have the ability to migrate through the thin walls of the pocket into the blood stream and this is the reason that periodontal disease is so detrimental to our overall health. It is vital that we reduce these bacteria if we are to maintain excellent health.

It is my belief that the Perio Protect Method is one of the greatest advancements in Dentistry that I have witnessed in my entire career. You may learn more about this revolutionary treatment at perioprotect.com. This is a treatment that can not only help you retain your teeth for a life time but may also help you to live a more healthy and longer life.

Yours in good health,

David Banks, DDS